Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments: Regarding claim 24, the Examiner explained that the limitation of the process of how the hook is obtained is considered a product by process claim that does not have any patentable weight and that the term about is considered a very broad term for the range being claimed that is close to a range obtained from the prior art. Mr. Babineau agreed to consider amending the claims to provide details that will preclude the hooks being formed by applying heat to the top of the hook filaments and to eliminate the word about from the claim in order to distinguish over the prior art. Mr. Babineau explained that ranges specified in the claims should be obtained by values that are within a single embodiment instead of combining values of different embodiments. The Examiner indicated that the term "excluding the hook filaments" is the term that is creating a confusion for this claim because the fabric base can have a value greater than the one specified in the prior art and the claim can be met when the filament that makes the hook is excluded from the thickness value..
